Material Terms of Agreement

SIGNATURE APPROVAL REQUIRED BEFORE FABRICATION:

I have read and understand the disclaimers regarding my selected material's inherent characteristics, suggestions for use, and maintenance instructions. I also recognize that stone is a natural product and may vary in color, markings, and texture. Unique shading, colors, patterns, pits, and fissures are inherent to the natural material. Furthermore, I recognize that samples are mere representations of stone materials and do not indicate the overall appearance or flow of my selected counter top. These characteristics are not considered defects or grounds for non-acceptance once this document is signed.

SLAB SELECTION:

I have not yet reviewed my selected material, but will make an appointment to view and approve the material prior to fabrication. I also understand that the material to be viewed will be material brought in to Bath, Kitchen & Tile Center from one of our stone suppliers. I understand that if I do not find the material satisfactory there may be a delay in fabrication and installation.

SEAM CONSIDERATIONS AND LOCATIONS:

Counter top seams are necessary for projects depending on various factors including: size of slabs, material characteristic, material weight, and details of the project/job site. Bath, Kitchen & Tile Center reserves the right to place seams where we deem necessary; however, customers have the option to review the seam locations prior to fabrication.

Granite Waiver

General Information: Granite is a natural, igneous stone that is quarried from mountains all over the world. It can vary in color and patterning which attributes to the beauty and uniqueness of natural stone.

Seams: The seams in a granite countertop may be seen and may be felt. Every effort is made to minimize the visual impact. Due to limitations of the slab size, large islands and counter runs may require additional seams. Final seam placement will be determined during production and can be viewed and approved prior to fabrication. According to industry standards, seams may be up to 1/8 inch wide. Differing structure and patterns of individual granite products can increase the likelihood of visible seams.

Finish: As a natural stone, granite is prone to variations in color, pattern, and density. Granite surfaces can be polished, matte, or leathered.

Staining: Granite is stain resistant, but it is still recommended to seal the stone regularly and clean up spills quickly.

Cleaning: Warm, soapy water or a PH neutral household cleaner are suitable for cleaning your granite countertop. Granite is susceptible to acids and abrasive cleaners which can strip the sealer.

Scratches: Granite is highly scratch resistant and will not show wear from daily use.

Heat: Granite is heat resistant and can withstand the heat of hot pots and pans; however, it is recommended to use trivets to ensure protection of your countertop.

I have read this document and understand what to expect with granite countertops.
